

ON WISDOM, VALUES, & GOOD vs. EVIL

Some aphorisms, sayings, maxims, adages, dictums, epigrams, proverbs, precepts attributed to Li Kiang by Albert G. Wilson

1. Evil extends itself with the help of those who assault it
2. The two greatest evils are selfishness and obscuration; Seerieyloi (his spelling) would say or add Greed, Ignorance, & Deception (self-deception).
3. To terminate, it is not necessary to destroy – only to disbelieve (the Siva Principle).
4. Values occur at the interface between fact and freedom.
5. Wisdom without compassion is not true wisdom, nor is compassion without wisdom true compassion.
6. Compassion obliterates "us/them."
7. Do not answer a question that has not yet been asked.
8. The injunction is the antecedent of the indicative.
9. Differences per se are valuable. It is only when we seek to impose a pecking order on them that they become negative.
